County Treasurer Shawna Dyer spoke to the court about her concern for her office and all the duties that pertain to that office. She asked the court to consider leaving the part time employee in her budget. She told the court she would like for them to let her try running the office on her own and then if she felt comfortable with that that she would come back and let the court know that a part time person may or may not be needed.

The court also touched on things like health insurance options, tax rate, prisoner housing and the part time treasurer position. No decisions were made at this time.
